Welcome to NBRC

Northamptonshire Biodiversity Records Centre (NBRC) supports the recording, curation and sharing of quality verified environmental information for sound decision-making. We are a not-for-profit, impartial, independent provider of biodiversity and geodiversity information for all who wish to use it. The centre is one of nearly fifty county-based Local Environmental Records Centres operating across the UK and we are members of the national Association of Local Environmental Records Centres (ALERC), the National Biodiversity Network (NBN), the National Forum for Biological Recording (NFBRI), and the county's Biodiversity Partnership and Local Nature Partnership.

Help us by reporting your wildlife sightings. See our Gaps in the Map 2020 to help target your recording.

For your first record submission, please read our Wildlife Recording Handbook and quick guide to Using the NBRC Website to Submit Biological Records.

Keep in touch with the NBRC by signing up to our newsletter.

Request a data search to gain information about species, habitats and wildlife sites in a particular location of Northamptonshire.

Join in with our 'Look out for...' species focused surveys

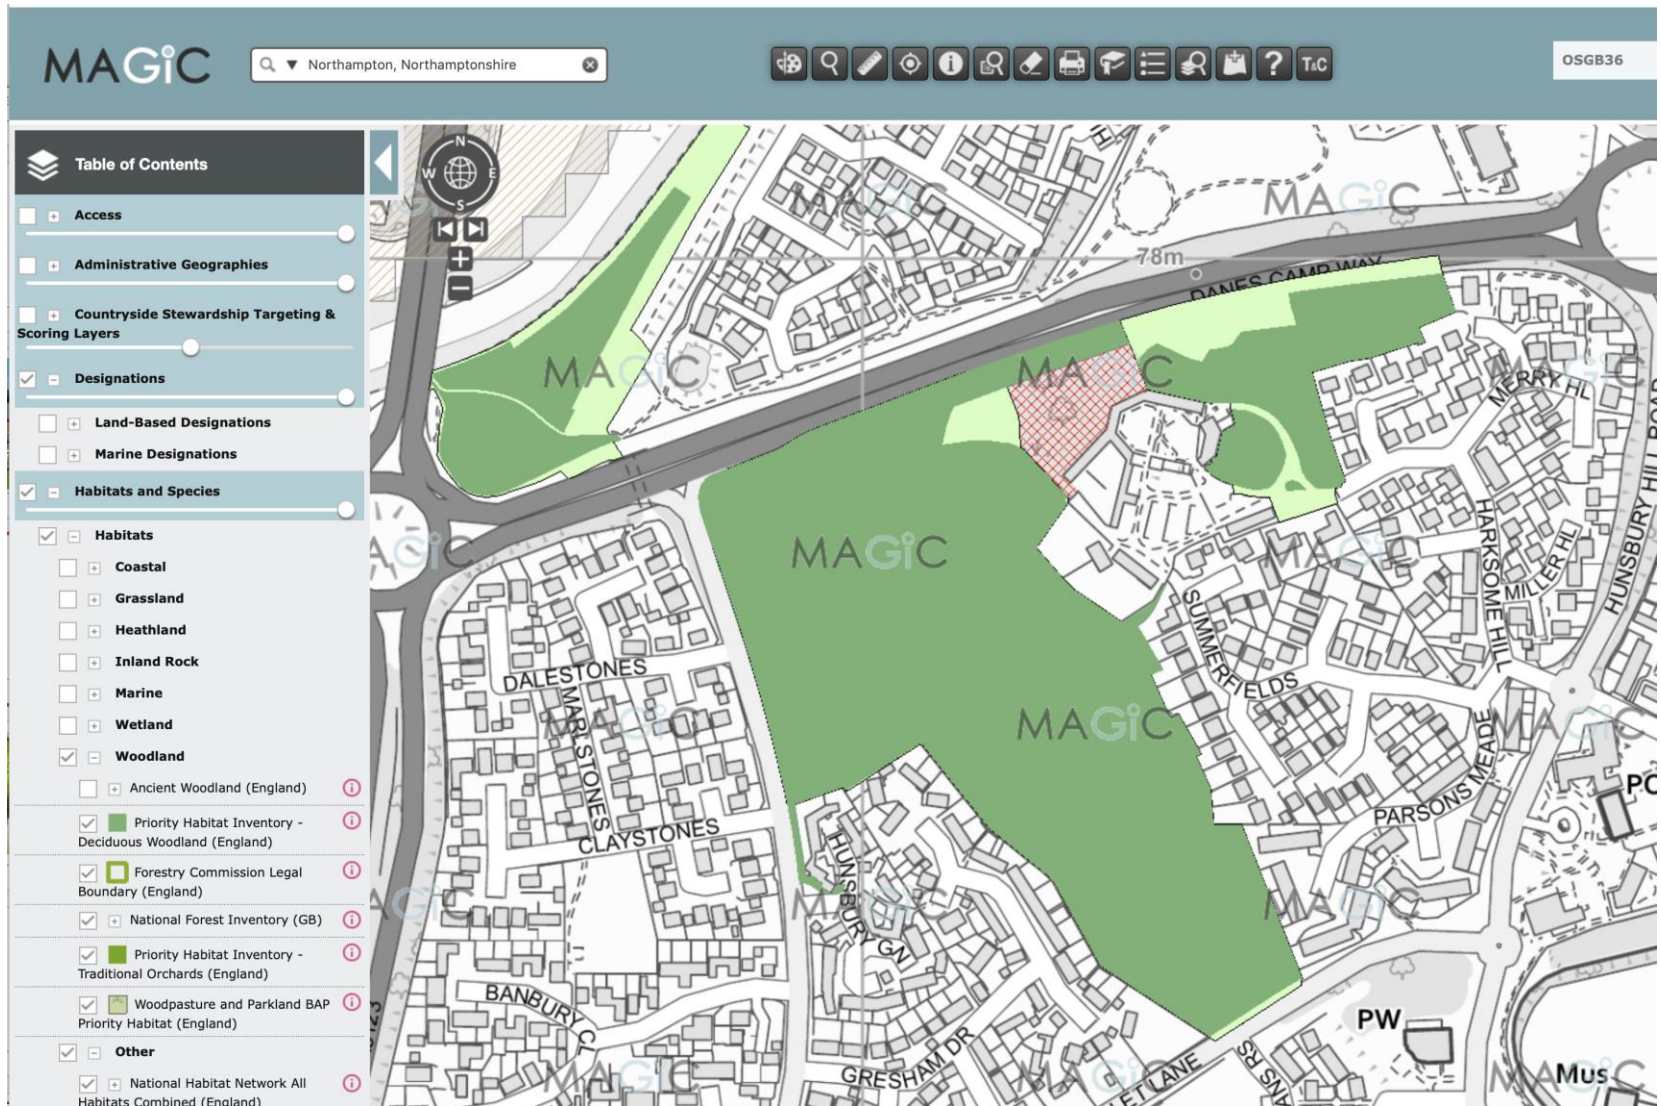

Although our WILDSide project has sadly come to an end, we will be continuing our Look out for... species focused surveys.

We need you help to find Badgers!

NBRC are hosting the Northamptonshire Badger Group survey.

This group hold records of badger activity across the county, provides advice, and organises rescue and rehabilitation. Your help is needed to increase and update their records. As a small community group, they rely on volunteers and members of the public to report badger information. Records of badger activity in the southern half of the county are particularly needed.

Historic England

Historic England recognise the threat of climate change on both the historical and the natural environment. They have a number of information pages including advice on Energy Efficiency and Historic Buildings, Low and Zero Carbon Technologies, Biomass Energy and Wind Energy.

National Lottery Heritage Fund expects all the projects that they fund enhance, protect and benefit the places and the people that they support. There are some comprehensive guidance notes and examples of good practice amongst their Environmental Sustainability Guidance.

Centre for Sustainable Energy has around 60 projects on the go at any one time, each one a challenge to seeking solutions to climate change and cold homes. CSE is a charity whose mission is to share knowledge and practical experience to empower people to change the way they think and act about energy.

Centre for Alternative Technology...

...as recently seen on BBC TV's Autumn Watch, CAT is an educational charity that researches and communicates positive solutions for environmental change. They provide information and resources, offer short courses and run a graduate school.

Our environmental sustainability network brings together over 100 charities, heritage organisations, cultural venues and more. Fit for the Future is powered by people and practical solutions.

We have a responsibility to do everything we can to address climate change, which poses a bigger threat to the places, nature and collections we care for than anything else. Working together is the only way we can move forward, and Fit for the Future has consequently never been more relevant and necessary.

Social Impact

Protecting and Improving our Environment: To ensure the places where people live and work are cleaner and greener, to promote sustainable procurement and secure the long-term future of our planet.

The National TOMs Framework

World Land Trust (WLT) is an international conservation charity that protects the world's most biologically significant and threatened habitats acre by acre.

Through a network of partner organisations around the world, WLT funds the creation of reserves and provides permanent protection for habitats and wildlife. Partnerships are developed with established and highly respected local organisations who engage support and commitment among the local community.
